

LUCSUS Seminars Autumn 2022

– Methods for Mobilization

WELCOME TO LUCSUS RESEARCH SEMINARS, THURSDAYS AT 11:00 – 12:00, IN WRANGEL, BISKOPSGATAN 5

For researchers engaging with complex sustainability problems and environmental justice, the line between researcher and participant in social mobilization can be fine and sometimes tricky to navigate. The call for transdisciplinarity is fundamental to LUCSUS research and encourages us to actively contribute to developing solutions to complex sustainability problems. This makes reflexivity and positionality key questions to think about. How do we engage with the issues we study? What methods can we use in translating our research into social action, and how do we navigate between roles as researchers, practitioners, and individuals?

For the 2022-2023 LUCSUS seminar series, we wish to hear from researchers who have engaged with sustainability issues on the ground and learn from their experiences of working across the researcher-activist gap.

22 SEPTEMBER 11:00 – 12:00, Wrangel 117
WIP: Scholar Activism in Academia and Beyond,
Farzana Bashiri (Lund University)

6 OCTOBER 11:00 – 12:00, Wrangel 117
Together We Green. How Communities Make Their Members Greener and More Satisfied with Life.
Maria Toft (University of Copenhagen)

13 OCTOBER 11:00 – 12:00, Wrangel 117
Generation Carbon – loss, goodness, and youth climate activism in Norway's oil capital. Anne-Sofie Lautrup Sørensen (IT University of Copenhagen)

20 OCTOBER 11:00 – 12:00, Wrangel 117
Findings of the latest IPBES Values assessment and discussion on biodiversity and multiple values.
Mine Islar, Torsten Krause and Carlos Velez (LUCSUS)

27 October 11:00 – 12:00, Wrangel 117
Mining in South Africa. It is about land management, legal pluralism and corporate social responsibility.
Janine Ubrink (Leiden University)

3 NOVEMBER 11:00 – 12:00, Wrangel 117
Degrowth and post-growth: A new sustainability paradigm?
Timothée Parrique and Jennifer Hinton (Lund University)

10 NOVEMBER 11:00 – 12:00, Wrangel 117
Towards an ethic and practice of reparation for sustainable development: Learning from and through informal work.
Manisha Anantharaman (Saint Mary's College of California)

17 NOVEMBER 11:00 – 12:00, Wrangel 117
Climate futures in Rio de Janeiro: Participatory methods for developing scenarios and visions of climate vulnerability and community-led adaptation.
Bruna Medeiros (International Institute for Sustainability) and Ebba Brink (LUCSUS)

24 NOVEMBER 11:00 – 12:00, Wrangel 117
Dilemmas emerging from methodological approaches to socio-environmental injustice along gold supply chains.
Muriel Cote (Lund University)

1 DECEMBER 11:00 – 12:00, Wrangel 117
Developing narrative agency: creative and critical practices for transformative change.
Alexandra Nikoleris (Lund University)

8 DECEMBER 11:00 – 12:00, Wrangel 117
Discussing the role of prefigurative politics and action for mobilizations.
Mine Islar and Sara Ullström (LUCSUS)

LUCSUS research seminar series feature invited guests and LUCSUS researchers working with societal change and transformations for sustainability.

For updates and forthcoming seminars visit www.lucus.lu.se

Address: Wrangel, room 117, Biskopsgatan 5, Lund
No registration required.

LUND
UNIVERSITY

LUCSUS

CENTRE FOR SUSTAINABILITY
STUDIES